ELEVENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

“The LORD is good: / his kindness endures forever, and his faithfulness to all generations.” This verse, from today’s responsorial psalm, functioned as a mini-creed in Jesus’ day. These words acknowledged that, although disasters had happened to Israel, the nation had always recovered whenever it recommitted to faith in God.

The primary example of this was the exodus from Egypt, the setting of the first reading. In earlier days, the Israelites had taken refuge in Egypt. Over time, the Egyptians had reduced Israel o slavery. God did not forget the promise made to Israel’s ancestors to provide their descendants freedom and security. God exceeded that promise, in fact, by not only winning Israel’s freedom but in making of Israel a priestly people, God’s friend and representative to the world. In Jesus’ day, another disaster had struck Israel: Roman conquest. After the Romans had conquered Israel, Roman government and economic policies led to an increase in poverty and its problems: illness, malnutrition, crime, fear, and untimely death. It was among those so afflicted that Jesus found his special possession. Just as God dreamt of Israel teaching holiness to the world, so Jesus sent out his closest associates to establish a kingdom that would share the Good News with the world. They cured the sick, fed the poor, forgave sinners, drove out demons, and raised the dead. Decades later, Paul could see a larger picture. God desired humanity to share divine life, but so many were unable to receive the gift or rejected it. The sacrifice of the cross changed human nature by revealing the resurrection and sharing the Holy Spirit. Christ’s work overcame the fear and confusion that had led so many astray. In this way, Christ fulfilled God’s dream of making all humanity a special possession and divine friend.
